CUSHION MUM IN FULL BLOOM—EACH PLANT WILL PROVIDE HUNDREDS OF BLOOMS EACH YEAR—

TAKE CARE OF YOUR PLANTS IMMEDIATELY UPON ARRIVAL

For shipping, our plants are packed in peat with Whale-hide waterproof paper. When you unpack them, if you are not ready to plant them in their permanent places, and wish to hold them for two or three days, it is a good idea to pour a small quantity of water down through the top of the package so that this peat can be moistened. After this treatment, your plants should keep fresh for several days. If, however, they are not to be planted within two or three days, it is best to take them out of the package and heel them in until such time as you are ready to plant them where they are to grow. These plants are large enough so that it is not necessary to put them in cold frames or in pots until they are ready to be planted in their permanent places.

PLANTING AND GROWING PERENNIALS

The present trend in perennial growing is to grow a number of different sorts in informal bed or along the shrub border and include only a few which are classed as rare plants. Perennials, or plants which live more than one year, are very essential on the grounds of anyone who likes color all through the different seasons. They may be planted in beds, in wide borders, in front of shrubs, around a pool, and the lower growing or dwarf sorts are widely used for rock garden planting. They may be planted in rows in a small garden for cutting purposes. They may be used singly but it is recommended that they be planted in clumps or groups of from three to twelve plants of a kind, as a mass of color is much more effective.

In planting a perennial planting, lay out the space you have available for them on piece of paper and spot in the taller growing sorts for background. Then select the plants for the border and jot them on your layout. Fill in with the medium tall growing sorts in the center of the bed. Select and plant for color display so that you do not have two kinds of perennials with the same color of blossoms beside each other. Color variations in a perennial bed essential.

Many types of perennials will do better if frequently transplanted, that is, about every third year. This is especially true of the Coreopsis, Gaillardias, Shasta Daisies and other varieties which have dense foliage just above the ground. The plants should be removed from the bed and torn into several divisions, and these divisions replanted, the same as new plants. Iris also does better if transplanted occasionally.
